Airworthiness Circular

All operators are required to comply as per following airworthiness standards to maintain their aircrafts:

1. Please be informed that it is mandatory to conduct the daily checks (Daily Inspection, Preflight Inspection, ALF, BFF, TA, P-check etc.) as applicable in accordance with approved Aircraft Maintenance Program. Please refer to CAA Nepal previous circular regarding validity of said daily checks which indicated, "Daily Inspections/After Last Flight Inspections as applicable is normally valid for 24 Hours of certification. In case of unavoidable circumstances, like weather and or unplanned night stops out of the Approved Line Station or Base Station the validity of the said DI / ALF can be extended for 36 Hours with one commercial flight but must be certified by appropriately trained PIC in reference to the approved CAME procedure. Even if it extends 36 Hours the aircraft may return to Base within 48 Hours of certification normally with no commercial flight." However, it depends on case-to-case basis but, procedure must be appropriately defined in AMP or CAME.
2. All operators are hereby informed that in case of non-availability of their properly Licensed Personnel to carry out required maintenance task, respective operators must contract with other available AMO as per NCAR part 145 and approved CAME / MOE procedure. Now onwards, CAA Nepal will not approve list of certifying staffs who are employed in other organizations. All operators must make proper arrangements for certification of maintenance task on CAMO to AMO contract basis.

Thanking You,
